Foreword

The stopping of time, the revisiting of the past, causes men to pause and consider their achievements, and to remember the joys and sorrows of forgotten times and events. But these reminiscences also brighten the future and allow men to look forward with confidence.

The editors of this yearbook have tried to bring back many of these reminiscences that we may always keep these memories as an integral part of our youth and as an indication to our future.

of Contents

Dr. Stephen E. Hart

Dr. Hart: A man who gave a part of himself to the improvement of the school system and community.

Dr. Hart: A man with the vision to foresee the problems of the future and the determination to plan and provide for them. A man whose foresight and planning insured an excellent education for us.

Dr. Hart: A man interested enough to involve himself with the concerns of the students, the teachers, and the citizens.

Dr. Hart: A man who continues to serve the area's students as Director of the Blue Hills Title III Project.

We, the Class of 1967, are honored to dedicate our yearbook to

In Special Appreciation to Miss Braden

We would like to express our deepest thanks to Miss Braden, our advisor, who has done so much to make this year's yearbook a great success. During her six years as advisor of the "Sonnet" she has devoted much of her time and effort to making each yearbook better than the one before. She is respected and admired by us all, not only as a teacher and advisor, but also as a friend. She has done more for us in the short time we have known her than any other person we have worked with. We hope that she knows how much we appreciated her help this year. We can never thank her enough for all she has done for us.—

National Honor Society

President

ELAINE KALLENBERG

To be a member of the National Honor Society one must be outstanding in character, scholarship, leadership, and, service. Each member exemplifies all of these qualities. This year's Honor Society members have been granted certain privileges—they no longer need passes to go to or from the library, and they may be excused from taking mid-year and final exams if they have 85 averages and the consent of the subject teacher. In return they have the responsibility of caring for the bulletin boards and showcase and tutoring other students who have requested their help.
